

OUR MISSION: To assist in the development of Christian leaders in the armed forces of the world and in the establishment and growth of military Christian fellowships.

UKRAINE RELIEF WORK CONTINUES

Members of Ukraine's military Christian fellowship continue to share food, water, and supplies with military personnel on the front lines, military widows and families, and civilians in need. They are also sharing the Word of God daily through emails, Bible studies, phone calls, and personal visits. Thank you to all donors who have been involved in ACCTS' work helping military Christians in Europe as they minister to the needs in Ukraine and thank you to everyone who is upholding the current war and its repercussions in daily prayer. May God bring peace and stability to our world.

If you wish to donate to ACCTS' Ukraine relief fund, you can mail your donation (with a note that it is for Ukrainian refugees) or donate online (choose "Ukraine Ministry") at www.accts.org.

Ukraine Relief Work Continues

In July ACCTS staff member Ed Ward took part in a mission trip in Eastern Hungary and Western Ukraine to help load and distribute food and other supplies to Ukrainians in need. The countries share a border of about 65 miles, and many Christian organizations have been involved in these relief efforts. Ed reports that it was prohibited to take photos at the border, and the atmosphere there was very tense. In Ukraine, many gas stations and businesses were closed, making life even harder for Ukrainians who have stayed. Many of the food deliveries were to older, retired people on fixed incomes. Please pray for all the relief efforts to Ukrainians at this time and pray particularly for Christians – including 300 pastors – who are staying behind to minister to people who can't leave. Ask that people on both sides of this current war turn to Christ as their Savior and hope in troubled times.

With the Lord

ACCTS' staff member from Moldova, Eduard Rosca, went to be with the Lord in July due to cancer. Eduard founded the military Christian fellowship in Moldova and also spearheaded that MCF's ministry to Ukrainian refugees who fled into Moldova. Please pray for Eduard's widow Mariana and their four children. Pray also for the MCF as it continues its ministry to military personnel in Moldova as well as Ukrainian refugees.

ACCTS' Leadership Program Inspires New Mongolian Ministry

A husband-and-wife team from Mongolia who attended ACCTS' Interaction-Rocky Mountain High (IRMH) leadership program in July is "on fire" for ministry to young Mongolian military personnel! "Enkhsumyia and Undrakh are on fire for Jesus and are doing so much military ministry in Mongolia that it is mind-boggling!" reports I-RMH program director Emanuela Haien. "Enkhsumyia was one of the very first people our staff member Don Snow met years ago in Mongolia, and they have both been involved in military ministry for years. This couple is eager to learn anything they can to improve and increase their military ministry in their nation, and were very thankful for the new resources our IRMH program provided them. A highlight for them was learning about the inductive Bible study method, which they feel will be very helpful to young military personnel, and our lessons in servant leadership."

Emanuela notes that, for the first time, the IRMH program also included sessions on managing personal finances, which Enkhsumyia and Undrakh also believe will open ministry doors with younger military personnel in their nation.

"It was fascinating to learn how this couple carries out their ministry in Mongolia," Emanuela continues. "Since it is not legal to talk about religion or Christ on military bases in their nation, they came up with a creative and God-inspired solution: they have a van which they park outside various military facilities so people who are interested in learning about who Jesus is can meet them in the van and attend Bible studies!"

Before IRMH participants return to their nations, Emanuela has them complete a list of goals and objectives they hope to accomplish. She notes, "Enkhsumyia and Undrakh are intent and focused on accomplishing big objectives – they will host their first IRMH-style program this autumn! He is already translating the lessons from our program to use for their new program, and will be training additional people to help them lead it. Enkhsumyia will also advertise their new leadership training program to cadets in the military academy, since the program is mainly for young men and women."

"Thank you to everyone who has financially and prayerfully supported this program," Emanuela shares. "I was very blessed to have assistance from staff members Rick and Nancy Jackson, Andy and Grace MacClean, Russ Hammerud and RADM Dan and Susan Lloyd in running this year's IRMH program. And it is amazing to see how God is blessing our efforts and inspiring indigenous military believers in several nations to begin their own military Christian leadership programs for young personnel in their nations' armed forces!"

Military Ethics Ministry Expands

In July ACCTS staff member Dean Mills attended an event with our sister organization in the UK, Military Ministries International (MMI), to discuss how our two organizations can expand our military ethics ministries. “Agreeing that a globally diverse issue requires God’s Word as a foundation and the Holy Spirit’s guidance bathed in prayer and culturally relevant solutions, our first collaborative steps include further discussion and discovery of how existing materials can be put into use right away while collaboratively dividing up the efforts for needed work ahead,” Dean reports. “MMI is establishing a small group to increase their involvement with ACCTS as we continue to move out in producing both the academic/theological underpinnings and practical application materials for daily use. Please join us in undergirding our efforts with prayer for God to mightily impact the world’s military/police forces through our efforts.”
